

Magdalene Anyango Namakhiya Odundo

BIOGRAPHY

Magdalene Odundo received a DBE from the Queen for her contribution to Art and Arts Education in 2020. She is a graduate of West Surrey College of Art & Design, Farnham (University for the Creative Arts) and the Royal College of Art, London.

Born and raised in Kenya, Magdalene Odundo began her career at an advertising agency in Nairobi as a trainee commercial layout artist before moving to the UK to attend a foundation course at Cambridge School of Art. Her BA Hons degree at Farnham (1973-1976), was in 3DD Ceramics, Printmaking and Photography. A three-year museum education teaching post at the Commonwealth Institute, London (1976-1979), was followed with a post-graduate MA from the Royal College of Art (1979-1982). Now Emerita professor at the University for the Creative Arts, she taught at the university 1997-2014. Magdalene Odundo, has spent forty years in education as a maker, researcher, research supervisor, visiting lecturer, external examiner, to various national and international universities. Magdalene has been a mentor to many young aspiring artists, encouraging many especially from Africa to take up ceramics as a profession.

Magdalene Odundo, was awarded the African Art Recognition Award by Detroit Art Institute in 2008, the African Heritage Outstanding Achievement in the Arts, Nairobi, Kenya in 2012 and a Lifetime Achievement Award from the International Ceramic Festival in 2019. She has Honorary Doctorates from the University of Florida, Gainesville and University of Arts London. Magdalene Odundo, is Patron & Trustee of the National Society for Education of Art & Design (NSEAD), UK, is on the British Council Art Advisory Panel, the Royal College of Art Council and a member of the National Museums of Kenya Nairobi's Contemporary Art Gallery project.

Magdalene Odundo's work is represented in various public and private collections in several countries around the world. Magdalene's recent exhibitions have included installations in glass, bronze, print, drawing and photography.
